

Can You Do a Name Change on a JetBlue Ticket?

Travel plans often change, and sometimes those changes involve more than just dates and destinations — they involve names. Whether you've made a simple typo while booking your JetBlue flight or your legal name has changed, you might be wondering: Can you do a name change on a JetBlue ticket? The good news is that JetBlue does allow certain types of name corrections and changes, but the rules are very specific. In this article, we'll break down JetBlue's name change policy, the process you need to follow, possible fees, and how to make the change quickly with the help of FastNow® at 1-866-673-3118 or 1-866-226-7736.

Understanding JetBlue's Name Change Policy

JetBlue distinguishes between minor name corrections and full passenger name changes:

1. Minor Name Corrections – These include fixing small spelling mistakes, typos, or switching first and last names.

For example: ○ "Jhon" to "John" ○ "Smiht" to "Smith" ○ "Jane Marie Doe" to "Jane M. Doe"

2. Full Passenger Name Change – This involves replacing the ticket with a completely different passenger name. JetBlue generally does not allow full transfers of tickets to another person. However, there are exceptions in cases of legal name changes due to: ○ Marriage ○ Divorce ○ Adoption ○ Government-issued ID updates
